MONDAY MORNING APRIL 13 1863

Reported Capture of Charleston

The reported capture of Charleston was the chief item of news received by the steamer. Whether the rumor may be relied upon, or not, seems very doubtful, though we are assured by several passengers, that just before they left San Francisco, the statement was current and generally believed, that a later dispatch had been received confirming the glad tidings. If so we shall probably have intelligence this evening which will be conclusive. Though we do not regard the destruction of the nest of secession as by any means the fatal blow to the rebellion, yet we cannot help believing that such a victory will prove of immense value to the Government in more respects than we have space to enumerate, and we are sure that every loyal heart will be rejoiced at a success which demonstrates the activity, the courage, and the struggle of the Federal army and navy. It will be a glorious opening of the spring campaign, which, we trust, will not be closed till every stronghold of treason is broken down and annihilated.

NEW OFFICIALS IN SAN FRANCISCO.—The Bulletin announces the following appointments in San Francisco: Collector, F F Low; Superintendent of Mint, R B Swain, (in place of Robert J. Stevens, removed,) and some others in subordinate positions, and says "there are also reasons for believing that other removals will speedily follow. High authority says there will be a clean sweep which is about as much news as could be afforded in a private dispatch." This is all right, if the reports as to the conduct of officials are true, and while the departments are attending to California, it would not be melancholy if a glance was cast a little further north. "The Special Agent of the Treasury Department, Mr Brown, has arrived at Washington, and his report has in part been published. He condemns Mr Rankin for lack of energy, but particularly denounces the management of the Mint. Mr Stevens has permitted proceedings which are in violation of law and of decency, and, if the report is truthful, no one will regret his removal. Fortunately for the Administration, he was not a Republican when appointed, but unfortunately for those who endorsed his fitness and integrity, his course cannot fail to cause a suspicion of their good judgment and, perhaps, of their integrity, in persistently urging his appointment, in spite of all the damaging evidence against him. Even now, according to the Bulletin's Washington correspondent, very earnest efforts have been made to induce Mr Chase to wink at the charges and to continue him in office. We quote the following, and cannot help regarding the conduct of Dr Henry, if such as is here stated, as grossly impertinent, and we are glad that no such interference had any effect upon the Secretary.

Secretary Chase is overwhelmed with indignation, in view of the revelations in regard to Mint affairs, and I do not believe it possible that the Superintendent can retain his place. The Superintendent is relying on one A G Henry, of Washington Territory, an old friend of the President, whom he sent on here to watch his affairs, and exert an influence at the White House to defeat any attempt at his removal. Mr Henry is frequently at the Executive Mansion on this business, plying the President and his family with arguments in support of the Superintendent. He has even gone so far as to make the impudent proposition that he be allowed to accompany the California delegation on the occasion of an interview in regard to California affairs which Secretary Chase had requested. It remains to be seen whether he has power enough to retain in so responsible a position as the Mint Superintendent a man in whom the Secretary has lost all confidence, and whose official character is impugned, under oath, by several highly respectable witnesses.

THE ARMY OF THE POTOMAC.—A Washington correspondent of the New York Times makes the following encouraging remarks with regard to the improved condition of the "Army of the Potomac":

In conversation with different persons who reached here to-day from the Army of the Potomac, I have been able to gather many interesting facts relative to that division of our army. Time has done much, and Gen Hooker more, toward disciplining and making that noble body of citizen soldiers efficient for service under the systematic discipline of the new commander. The name of McClellan has vanished from the minds of the soldiers, and the army to-day, notwithstanding the mud, is about as much Hookerized as it was at one time McClellanized. In a word, to a man the Army of the Potomac is ready and eager to follow their new leader whither he may lead. This is as it should be, this is as all who were acquainted with the antecedents of Hooker and the army believed it eventually would be. In recording the fact that desertions have ceased, one notable exception exists, and the result in this case but goes to confirm what I have heretofore said as to the discipline of the army.

THE ARGUS.—The Argus completed its eighth volume on Saturday, and its publisher announces that hereafter it will be conducted on the plan of sending only to those who pay in advance—a wise system and likely to be profitable to those who adopt it. The first number of the volume will be out about the 1st of May. We wish our old friend the publisher, whose industry and perseverance everybody admires, abundant success in his efforts to make a profitable and useful journal.

LATER FROM THE EAST.

Dates to April 7th!

WASHINGTON, April [illegible].—The report of the Committee on the Conduct of the War will be published on Monday. It is very lengthy, making nearly 7,000 written pages. There runs through the report [illegible] generals and civilians [illegible] is said to place [illegible] possibilities upon the [illegible] McClellan while [illegible] Army of the Potomac. The evidence of the [illegible] but during the winter of [illegible] the organization of the army was [illegible] and the roads good, especially [illegible] year, and while Beauregard's army at Manassas was much inferior [illegible] with artifications [illegible] McClellan [illegible] advance, and not until the [illegible] did he move forward. [illegible] devoted to the transfer of the army to the Peninsula, and the subsequent [illegible] he pursued in front of Yorktown [illegible] that of McClellan's. While on the march up [illegible] is alleged that [illegible] the slightest effort was [illegible] reinforcements. Several generals testify that after the battle of Fair Oaks the army might have gone into Richmond [illegible] Gen Barnard, the principal Engineer, says that so far as his branch of the service was concerned the army might have been placed across the Chickahominy in May last. It is added that McClellan knew several days previously that Jackson had returned from the Valley, and that the rebels were massing their forces on his right just before the seven days battle commenced, and that the plan of the battle then agreed upon was to fight the enemy on the right and defeat [illegible] and to send a strong reinforced column to [illegible] on the left. This was [illegible] but no one testifies why. Of the seven days battle much evidence was taken and on the arrival at Harrison's Landing [illegible] made almost imputing cowardice in the retreat from the Peninsula.

Of Pope's campaign much is said. The evidence in the battle of Antietam charges McClellan with uselessly suspending the [illegible] the next day and allowing the enemy to escape in the night, and the witnesses allege that he waited for reinforcements [illegible] battle the next day, he had one corps that had not been in the fight. [illegible] charges that McClellan had at several times more artillery than was needed to [illegible] immense transportation; that he incurred defeat; that he protected the rebel forage and supplies while retreating and destroyed at Harrison's Landing an immense amount of our own supplies.

McClellan appeared before the Committee and testified at length on most of the points, but the Committee came to the above and many additional conclusions, including disobedience of orders.

CHICAGO, April 6.—Colonel Harrison, commanding at Fayetteville, Arkansas, telegraphs that Capt Worthing with two companies of the 1st Arkansas Cavalry, returned from a scout in Carroll county, Ark, having had four skirmishes with the rebels, in which they killed 22 and took 7 prisoners. Two rebel captains were killed. Our loss is one man wounded. Col King, who pursued the rebels who captured the steamer Sam Gaty, succeeded in overtaking them, and after a fight he dispersed them, mortally wounding their chief.

NEW YORK, April 6.—The Herald's Washington dispatch says that a report has reached here via Fredericksburg, derived from rebel sources, that Charleston was bombarded by our fleet and attacked by our land forces on Thursday last, and is now in possession of the Federals under Gen Hunter and Admiral Dupont. This report is fully credited by prominent officers of Government who are in possession of the facts in reference to the contemplated attack on Charleston, which it is not yet prudent to divulge. It is certain that those who possess information are confident that our soldiers and sailors will celebrate the second anniversary of the fall of Fort Sumter in the captured city of Charleston. Restrictions upon publication in Southern papers is so stringent that it is not expected [illegible] much in them in reference to the capture of Charleston, until the disaster can no longer be concealed, but reports which have arrived here are definite and positive and believed by those who have the best right to know what foundation there is for them.

FORTRESS MONROE, April 4.—A Richmond dispatch says that the enemy had [illegible] force on Seabrook or Johns Island, S C. Three gunboats and several transports were lying off the Island. Skirmishing had already taken place between the pickets. Our pickets were driven in and the enemy (Federals) were advancing. Gen Haywood has ordered all the women and children and noncombatants to be removed from Adams Run, which is 20 miles from Seabrook Island.

NEW YORK, April 6.—Information has been received contradicting the positively reported preparations by the rebels to evacuate Richmond. These reports were based upon the movements of troops and materials from Richmond to strengthen the defenses at other points of the Confederacy. It is believed however that they are erecting defenses at Chattanooga as a place for the last grand rally, in case of being compelled to retire from the borders.

The Times' special Washington dispatch says that the city is nervous to-night over the news derived from rebel sources that Charleston has fallen. Our attack commenced on Friday and was overwhelmingly successful. A flag of truce came to [illegible] this morning but the newspapers [illegible] make no mention of Charleston.

Gen Lee, with a considerable force, is in the Shenandoah valley. The prisoners captured by our troops have been found with passes bearing his signature. Fitzhugh Lee was in the neighborhood of Culpepper with his cavalry.

The President's proclamation has caused the return of 1,500 deserters [illegible] to their regiments thus far. No impediments have been thrown in the way of enforcing the proclamation. Notwithstanding that the time fixed down in the proclamation for return has expired, the Government is disposed to deal leniently with all who return to their regiments.

The Committee on the Conduct of the War urged on the President [illegible] letters of marque. The subject was the cause of a protracted Cabinet meeting, [illegible] in which two Departments [illegible] positively opposed to the measure [illegible] were in favor of it. [illegible]

A not[illegible] Williams, formerly Attorney General of Maryland, was arrested yesterday [illegible] Advocate [illegible] number of letters to [illegible] in New York and Baltimore. He was sent off to Fort Lafayette.

Our relations with Great Britain are considered by the [illegible] as extremely delicate. Correspondence between Earl Russell and our Minister Mr Adams, in relation to the fitting out of the pirate Alabama [illegible] 'Blue Book' but not yet published in this country, and [illegible] still going on [illegible] construction and equipment of [illegible] vessels. The [illegible] in the port of England [illegible] Earl Russell places him [illegible] the strict letter of the statute, and [illegible] to take steps to remedy the grievances complained of. This matter has [illegible] seriously discussed in the Cabinet.

MEMPHIS, April 4.—A skirmish occurred at [illegible] nine miles from [illegible] between small forces of Confederate and Federal cavalry and the latter were compelled to retire, after a fight of an hour with a loss of [illegible] killed and wounded. The rebel loss is not known.

FORTRESS MONROE, April 5.—Twelve mounted deserters with horses and equipments arrived [illegible]. They came from Wise's legion and report their whole company would desert as soon as an opportunity offers, and that the want of food caused their desertion, and that the troops cannot endure privations from want of food much longer.

CAIRO, April 6.—Advices from Gen Quinby's expedition up to Monday evening last [illegible] progress had been made [illegible] Our force was [illegible] the enemy. There had been [illegible] picket skirmishing [illegible]

WASHINGTON, April 6.—Official information which has just been received states that the rebels [illegible] firing at Washington, N C [illegible] It is expressed in the same dispatch that on the 31st of March Gen Foster was engaged in fighting them up to one o'clock that day.

The Government has received no intelligence regarding affairs at Charleston other than what has already been telegraphed.

The State Department had not, up to yesterday, received any official response to the Secretary's letter declining the peace propositions of the French Government.

NEW YORK, April 6.—Fortress Monroe dispatches state that Charleston papers had been received. They acknowledge that the attack on that city had commenced, but do not intimate either a success or repulse. [illegible] It is generally believed in official circles [illegible] we have the best reasons to believe that news will soon be received of the capture of that city.

ST LOUIS, April 6.—A fire at Boonville, Mo, yesterday destroyed property valued at $40,000.

HARTFORD, April 6.—The republicans carry the State and elect Henry C Deming to Congress from the first Congressional District. We are unable as yet to give the majorities.

CHICAGO, April 6.—At this hour (11 P M) we have nothing additional in regard to the attack on Charleston. Should it have been as successful as is asserted by deserters we will probably have full particulars by the steamer to Fortress Monroe to-morrow.

CINCINNATI, April 7.—The county elections took place throughout the State yesterday. So far as heard from, the Union ticket was pretty generally elected. This city gives majorities ranging from 600 to 1,000 for candidates on that ticket.

INDIANAPOLIS, April 7.—Returns from the various townships of the State show large Union gains.

HARTFORD, April 7.—Republican Congressmen were elected in the first and fourth districts. The democrats carry the second district. It is believed that Gov Buckingham's majority will be about 3,000. In the State Legislature the Union men have elected 15 out of 21 Senators and a large majority in the House.

ST LOUIS, April 6.—C J Filley, radical emancipationist, is elected Mayor by about 2,200 over D Filley, the claybank or Blair emancipationist, and about 1,700 over Joseph O'Neil, copperhead. The radicals will have a large majority in council.

JEFFERSON CITY, April 6.—The radicals have elected all the city officers and 6 out of 7 councilmen.

CLEVELAND, April 7.—All the cities in the State as far as heard from except Columbus gave Union majorities yesterday.

WASHINGTON, April 7.—The Richmond Examiner of Saturday, received to-day, contains the following: Vicksburg, April 2—The enemy made a reconnoissance up the Yazoo yesterday and threw a few shells at Snyder's Bluff. There is nothing in sight below with the point to-day.

CHATTANOOGA, April 2.—The gunboats of the Tennessee have been driven back by our sharpshooters. The iron clads attempted to land at Tuscumbia this morning at daylight and were attacked by our cavalry outposts. A heavy cannonading ensued but without effect. The efforts to land were entirely unsuccessful, and the gunboats backed down the river. Heavy skirmishing has been going on at Mineville.

CHARLESTON, April 2.—There are no signs thus far of the expected attack. There has been no landing in force on any of the islands below as reported. The skirmish on Seabrook's Island was between [illegible] and a party from the gunboat.

NEW YORK, April 7.—A special dispatch from Washington of the 2d [illegible] says: The expedition sent out by Gen Stahl returned yesterday evening. One had proceeded to Warrenton and vicinity, and the other had explored beyond the Bull Run mountains to the Blue Ridge. They encountered a few scattered guerrilla parties and took 2 wagons of provisions and brought in a number of horses.

The Times' special Washington dispatch says: The European mails and the British steamer are expected here with considerable anxiety. It is needless to disguise the fact that the most prudent and intelligent statesmen connected with the Government our relations with that of Great Britain are said to be more precarious than they have been at any time since the Trent affair.

Telegrams from Cracow say a report was current that Langiewicz had been put to flight and his forces dispersed, and that he was at [illegible] and sought [illegible] Austrians to pass through Galacia, but was refused. [illegible] have been thrown [illegible] and Warsaw. The inhabitants expected an attack.

The London Times says the demand for money is active, in consequence of the Confederate loan which had [illegible] at [illegible] premium. Its subsequent [illegible] from all the cities amounted to about £15,000,000.

The Times considers the Polish struggle virtually at an end, and thinks that all the powers are justified in requiring that Poland shall have what was guaranteed by the treaty of Paris.

The correspondent of the London Morning Post asserts [illegible] that besides the amnesty, the Czar [illegible] that he would give Poland a liberal Constitution.

Langiewicz had been conveyed to the fortress at Cracow.

WORTH HAVING.—The first volume of "Abbott's Great History of the Civil War in America," was recently placed upon our table for inspection. It comprises a full and impartial account of the origin and progress of the present war, the various naval and military engagements, heroic deeds by armies and individuals, touching scenes in the field, the camp, the hospital and the cabin. The work is durably bound in the most approved style, and elegantly gotten up throughout, being beautifully illustrated with maps, diagrams, and the choicest of steel engravings. From our knowledge of the author, (J. S. C. Abbott), we feel safe to state that no American citizen can afford to deprive himself or his children of the many advantages to be derived from the perusal of a work of such permanent value as we pretend this will be. Mr. A. B. Butler, agent for this section of country, will [illegible] the prospectus among the citizens of Portland and adjacent towns. Subscribe, everybody.

THE SABLE KNIGHTS.—The Sable Knights will give one of their wonderful and mysterious [illegible] to night at the Willamette [illegible]. The California press give them very flattering notices, and speak highly of their [illegible] tricks and ventriloquism. Among [illegible] of things which will be done this evening is the horizontal suspension of a man with his head resting on a stool and the remainder of his body in the air, with a child in a kneeling position on his breast; also the great feat of strength displayed by Prof. Myers in holding a fifty-six pound weight at arm's length for two minutes. If they perform what they advertise, it will be worth seeing. Notice advertisement.

THANKS.—The contributions of our liberal neighbors, Mr. S. J. McCormick and Mr. Chas. Barrett, have covered our table with newspapers, pictorials, and all the magazines for March. If any of our readers wish to learn what is going on in the world, they cannot fail to find sources of information at the counters of either of these gentlemen.

Wells, Fargo & Co. also furnished us with a large file of papers per steamer.

DEATH OF AN OLD CITIZEN.—Mr. Tobias Myers, lately of the firm of R. Pittock & Co., of this city, died of bronchitis on the 28th ult., at Los Angeles, California, where he had gone for the benefit of his health. His remains will be brought to this city for interment by the next steamer.

SALE OF CROCKERY.—Do not forget M. Manasse's auction sale of crockery and groceries to-morrow morning at ten o'clock. Rare opportunity to buy articles cheap.

SAILS TO DAY.—The steamer Brother Jonathan sails for San Francisco via Victoria this afternoon at four o'clock.

LATER NEWS.—Our dispatches received to-night will probably contain news one day later than brought by the steamer.

ARMY DEMORALIZATION.—Much has been said of late about the demoralized condition of the Army of the Potomac, but so far as we can learn, the soldiers are not in a state of disaffection; it is some two or three hundred staff officers and a few generals who are in an alarming state of insubordination, and if these officers and generals were either dismissed from the service or allowed to resign, and loyal and efficient corporals and sergeants appointed in their places, we should soon hear the last of this cry of demoralization. Whatever disaffection there is in the Army of the Potomac has been spreading down from various headquarters, through the ranks, not up from the men to their leaders. As a cotemporary well says: "A majority of those who opposed McClellan's removal have done their duty, proving that they held their country dearer than any leader." Others of his special violent champions have taken the opposite course. They now say, "We always predicted that McClellan's removal would ruin the army; see the evil it has caused." The truth is, while McClellan was in command, those who doubted and those who utterly disbelieved in his capacity, gave him, not merely nominal obedience, but prompt, unreserved co-operation. Since his retirement, some of his partisans have generated and intensified the very disaffection they talk of, by persistently denouncing and belittleing his successor, and [illegible] the policy of the Government itself. They will doubtless attempt the same course with Hooker; but he is hardly the man to tolerate the least insubordination, or officers not [illegible], vitally loyal. There is but one remedy: to partially re-organize the army and cashier a few leading offenders. The fate of Fitz John Porter has already produced a perceptibly healthy effect upon those malignants.—Boston Herald.

Portland R. A. Chapter, No. 3.—There will be a Special Convocation of Portland Chapter, No. 3, on Tuesday evening, April 14th, at [illegible] o'clock. Work in Past Master's Degree.

DIED:

The funeral will take place at the residence of R. Patton [illegible] at 11 o'clock A. M. Friends and relations of the family are invited to attend.

DR. BAKER'S

PAIN PANACEA.

Is composed entirely of healing gums, and vegetable oils and herbs. It is perfectly safe for the most delicate to use. I can most sincerely say that I have never known any however delicate to be injured by it in the least. I will continue to ask the afflicted that have not used it, to try it for the following diseases. If they are not satisfied with its healing properties, the money will be cheerfully returned by the agent where the medicine is for sale.

If you have pain in the stomach or bowels, try a dose of Pain Panacea internally, bathe externally over the parts affected and it will at once restore the proper action and relieve the pain.

If you have a Bruise or Wound, bathe it well with the Pain Panacea four times a day. It will relieve the pain, and take out all the poison and heal the wound in a short time.

If you are suffering from Neuralgia or Rheumatic Pains, apply the Pain Panacea freely and take a dose of it internally morning and night. It will not only cure the pain but will remove the cause of the disease.

If you have the Dyspepsia, and your food distresses your stomach after eating, take a dose of Pain Panacea after each meal.

If you have a Cankered or Sore Mouth or Throat, apply the Pain Panacea to the affected parts, and gargle the mouth or throat three or four times a day.

If you have the Diarrhea or a relaxed state of the bowels, take a dose of Pain Panacea and they will soon be restored. If you have a painful swelling, bathe the parts freely and you will soon relieve pain, and the swelling will be reduced.

If you have a severe tooth-ache, apply the Pain Panacea on a piece of cotton and bathe gum at the same time, it will stop the pain instantly.

If you have a pain in the Breast, Side, Back or Kidneys, bathe the parts affected morning and night, at the same time take a dose of the Panacea internally.

If a Mother has a caked breast, apply the Panacea as hot as it can be borne.

If you feel chilly or cold, as though you were going to have a fever, take a dose of Panacea.

If you have a wound, cut or galls upon your horse, apply the Pain Panacea; it will take out all the inflammation and heal the sore in a short time.

Grizel Cochrane.

A TALE OF TWEEDMOUTH MOOR

(Concluded)

"Dismount!" cried the stranger sternly

The horseman, benumbed and stricken with fear, made an effort to reach his arms, but in a moment the hand of the robber, quitting the bridle, grasped the breast of the driver and dragged him to the ground. He fell heavily on his face, and for several minutes was senseless. The stranger seized the leathern bag which contained the mail for the north, and flinging it on his shoulder, rushed across the heath.

Early on the following morning the inhabitants of Berwick were seen hurrying in groups to the spot where the robbery had been committed, and were scattered in every direction around the moor, but no trace of the robber could be obtained.

Three days had passed, and Sir John Cochrane yet lived. The mail which contained his death warrant had been robbed, and before another order for execution could be given, the intercession of his father, the Earl of Dundonald, with the king's confessor might be successful. Grizel now became almost his constant companion in prison, and spoke to him words of comfort. Nearly fourteen days had passed since the protracted hope in the bosom of the prisoner became more bitter than his first despair. The intercession of his father had been unsuccessful—and a second time the bigoted, and would-be despotic monarch signed the warrant for his death, and in a little more than another day the warrant would reach his prison.

"The will of Heaven be done," groaned the captive.

"Amen!" returned Grizel, with wild vehemence; "but my father shall not die."

Again the rider with the mail had reached the moor of Tweedmouth, and a second time he bore with him the doom of Cochrane. He spurred his horse to his utmost speed, he looked cautiously before and behind him, and around him, and in his right hand he carried a pistol to defend himself. The moon shed a ghastly light across the heath, rendering desolation visible and giving a spiritual embodiment to every shrub. He was turning the angle of a straggling copse, when his horse reared at the report of a pistol, the fire of which seemed to dash into its very eyes. At the same moment his own pistol flashed, and the horse reared more violently, and he was driven from the saddle. In a moment the foot of the robber was upon his breast, bending over him, and brandishing a short dagger in his hands, said—"Give me thine arms, or die!"

The heart of the king's servant failed within him and without venturing to reply, he did as he was commanded.

"Now, go thy way," cried the robber sternly, but leave with me thy horse, and leave with me the mail, lest a worse thing come upon thee."

The man therefore arose, and proceeded towards Berwick, trembling, and the robber, mounting the horse which he left, rode rapidly across the heath.

Preparations were making for the execution of Sir John Cochrane, the officers of the law waited only for the arrival of the mail with the second death warrant, to lead him forth to the scaffold, when the tidings arrived that the mail had been robbed. For yet fourteen days the life of the prisoner would be again prolonged. He again fell on the neck of his daughter, and wept, and said, "It is good, the hand of Heaven is in this!"

"Said I not," replied the maiden, and for the first time she wept aloud, "that my father should not die?"

The fourteen days were not yet passed, when the prison door flew open, and the Earl of Dundonald rushed to the arms of the son. His intercession with the confessor had at length been successful; and after twice signing the warrant for the execution of Sir John, which had as often failed in reaching its destination, the king had sealed his pardon. He had hurried with his father from the prison to the house—his family were clinging around him, shedding tears of joy—and they were marvelling with gratitude at the mysterious Providence that had twice intercepted the mail, and saved his life, when a stranger craved an audience. Sir John desired him to be admitted; and the robber entered. He was habited as we have before described, in the coarse jerkin, but his bearing was above his condition. On entering, he slightly touched his beaver, but remained with it on.

"When you have perused these," taking two papers from his bosom, "cast them into the fire!"

Sir John glanced on them, started and became pale—they were his death warrants.

"My deliverer!" exclaimed he, "how shall I thank thee—how repay the savior of my life? My father, my children, thank him for me."

The old Earl grasped the hand of the stranger, the children embraced his knees, and he burst into tears.

"By what name," eagerly inquired Sir John, "shall I thank my deliverer?"

The stranger wept aloud, and raising his beaver, the raven tresses of Grizel Cochrane fell upon the coarse cloak.

"Gracious Heaven!" exclaimed the astonished and enraptured father—my own child—my savior—my own Grizel."

WINONA.—The name Winona, which is used so often in naming ships, and which is now upon one of the best gunboats in the American navy, is derived from a legend of northern New Hampshire. Winona was a daughter of an Indian chief, who had rescued from the hands of the savages a traveler named Thornton, with whom she eloped, and whom she subsequently married. A few years of forest life so wearied the husband that he concluded to go back into society, and communicated that fact to his wife, who was so overcome by the announcement that she killed herself by drinking tea from nightshade berries. Thornton, after performing the last sad rites for his devoted wife, removed to Boston, where in the busy world he hoped to forget this unhappy occurrence. Twenty years rolled by, when one day a traveler came to a public house in Winchester, New Hampshire, and, after depositing his baggage hastened to a grove of cedar, and was found next day lying by the grave of Winona, dead.

John Van Buren is being denounced by the Richmond papers for his late speech, but John Van Buren never appeared so well as in that speech. John pursued the only course a Christian patriot could take, he asked the South if they would come back to the Union and the Constitution, for if they would he was ready to defend them in all their rights. They told him no, then said he "I fight till death, I will not assent to any other terms of peace." This should be the ground of every good citizen. Give to every section all that belongs to it, have as little of war and blood shed as possible, but if the question comes between dissolution and fighting, then let the fight go on, for better that one or the other party should perish now, than make this country the political hell it would become by division.

An exchange says that war hardens as it progresses. It is only after you give a cuff and had it returned that you understand fully that there is some business on hand needing attention.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL,

FOR THE RAPID CURE OF Colds, Coughs, and Hoarseness.

BRIMFIELD, MASS., 20th Dec., 1855.

DR. J. C. AYER: I do not hesitate to say the best remedy I have ever found for Coughs, Hoarseness, Influenza, and the concomitant symptoms of a Cold, is your CHERRY PECTORAL. Its constant use in my practice and my family for the last ten years has shown it to possess superior virtues for the treatment of these complaints. EBEN KNIGHT, M. D.

A. B. MORTLEY, Esq., of UTICA, N. Y., writes: "I have used your PECTORAL myself and in my family ever since you invented it, and believe it the best medicine for its purpose ever put out. With a bad cold I should sooner pay twenty-five dollars for a bottle than do without it, or take any other remedy."

Croup, Whooping Cough, Influenza.

SPRINGFIELD, MISS., Feb. 7, 1856.

BROTHER AYER: I will cheerfully certify your PECTORAL is the best remedy we possess for the cure of Whooping Cough, Croup, and the chest diseases of children. We of your fraternity in the South appreciate your skill, and commend your medicine to our people. HIRAM CONKLIN, M. D.

AMOS LEE, Esq., MONTEREY, IA., writes, 3d Jan., 1856: "I had a tedious Influenza, which confined me in doors six weeks; took many medicines without relief, finally tried your PECTORAL by the advice of our clergyman. The first dose relieved the soreness in my throat and lungs; less than one half the bottle made me completely well. Your medicines are the cheapest as well as the best we can buy, and we esteem you, Doctor, and your remedies, as the poor man's friend."

Asthma or Phthisic, and Bronchitis.

WEST MANCHESTER, PA., Feb. 4, 1856.

SIR: Your CHERRY PECTORAL is performing marvellous cures in this section. It has relieved several from alarming symptoms of consumption, and is now curing a man who has labored under an affection of the lungs for the last forty years.

HENRY L. PARKS, M[illegible]

A. A. RAMSEY, M. D., ALBION, MONROE CO., IOWA, writes, Sept. 6, 1855: "During my practice of many years I have found nothing equal to your CHERRY PECTORAL for giving ease and relief to consumptive patients, or curing such as are curable."

We might add volumes of evidence, but the most convincing proof of the virtues of this remedy is found in its effects upon trial.

Consumption.

Probably no one remedy has ever been known which cured so many and such dangerous cases as this. Some no human aid can reach, but even to those the CHERRY PECTORAL affords relief and comfort.

ASTOR HOUSE, NEW YORK CITY, March 5, 1856.

DOCTOR AYER, LOWELL: I feel it a duty and a pleasure to inform you what your CHERRY PECTORAL has done for my wife. She had been five months laboring under the dangerous symptoms of Consumption, from which no aid we could procure gave her much relief. She was steadily failing, until Dr. [illegible] of this city, where we have come for advice, recommended a trial of your medicine. We bless his kindness, as we do your skill, for she has recovered from that day. She is not yet as strong as she used to be, but is free from her cough, and calls herself well.

Yours, with gratitude and regard,
ORLANDO SHELBY, OF SHELBYVILLE.

Consumptives, do not despair till you have tried AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. It is made by one of the best medical chemists in the world, and its cures all round us bespeak the high merits of its virtues.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills.

THE sciences of Chemistry and Medicine have been taxed their utmost to produce this best, most perfect purgative which is known to man. Innumerable proofs are shown that these PILLS have virtues which surpass in excellence the ordinary medicines, and that they win unprecedentedly upon the esteem of all men. They are safe and pleasant to take, but powerful to cure. Their penetrating properties stimulate the vital activities of the body, remove the obstructions of its organs, purify the blood, and expel disease. They purge out the foul humors which breed and grow distemper, stimulate sluggish or disordered organs into their natural action, and impart healthy tone with strength to the whole system. Not only do they cure the every-day complaints of every body, but also formidable and dangerous diseases that have baffled the best of human skill. While they produce powerful effects, they are, at the same time, in diminished doses, the safest and best physic that can be employed for children. Being sugar-coated, they are pleasant to take; and being purely vegetable, are free from any risk of harm. Cures have been made which surpass belief were they not substantiated by men of such exalted position and character as to forbid the suspicion of untruth. Many eminent clergymen and physicians have lent their names to certify to the public the reliability of my remedies, while others have sent me the assurance of their conviction that my Preparations contribute immensely to the relief of my afflicted, suffering fellow-men.

The Agent below named is pleased to furnish gratis my American Almanac, containing directions for their use, and certificates of their cures of the following complaints:—

Costiveness, Billous Complaints, Rheumatism, Dropsy, Heartburn, Headache arising from a foul Stomach, Nausea, Indigestion, Morbid Inaction of the Bowels and Pain arising therefrom, Flatulency, Loss of Appetite, all Ulcerous and Cutaneous Diseases which require an evacuant Medicine, Scrofula or King's Evil. They also, by purifying the blood and stimulating the system, cure many complaints which it would not be supposed they could reach, such as Deafness, Partial Blindness, Neuralgia and Nervous Irritability, Derangements of the Liver and Kidneys, Gout, and other kindred complaints arising from a low state of the body or obstruction of its functions.

Do not be put off by unprincipled dealers with some other pill they make more profit on. Ask for AYER'S PILLS, and take nothing else. No other they can give you compares with this in its intrinsic value or curative powers. The sick want the best aid there is for them, and they should have it.
